

A Word From The Lord To His Church, His Bride

For the eyes are in the Head, and I see you according to what I have done. Your eyes are in the earth, when you look down below, for there you strive so hard. But come up and come away, enter in...be filled with all the fullness. For I have separated you, I have made you holy; separated unto Me. And you have strived hard to be one with Me, but My work is done. And I would awaken you. I have wrestled you from your sleep, your deep slumber. And I say, "Look, look above! Not into your dreams, not into your desires, but into that which is, and find all joy. Enter into the joy of the Lord. Enter into what He has done for you. Be not afraid, for His word is a beautiful work, but you must have your eyes opened to Him. And when you see you will know that it wasn't just a work; it was union that settled the fact with the enemy, the world, and with the flesh.

He made you one with Him and all that He is, now yours. Let the Holy Spirit arouse you, awaken you, shake you. Let the Spirit of God move upon you. Let the Holy Spirit speak through the Word of God. Let Him declare things too wonderful to be said. And let Him show you that which no man can do, but that the Son has done. That is why His Name is above every name, for it is a glorious work, for He has brought us in, into Himself, and made us one. So rejoice! Rejoice and cry out at the same time. For joy rejoice, and yet cry out. For He that has made you one will open your eyes, for you are there with Him. You are not far from Him. For you are one with Him, joined to Him, side by side, bone of His bone. Cry out, and He will show you glorious things, wonderful things. And your mind will be renewed. Your mind will be washed. And you will be free from dead works, and those dead works will fall off of you as old rotten and decayed things. And you will be separated unto newness of Life. And you will walk in the peace that comes from being one. You will not fear what man shall do unto you, but you shall be found in joy with Him Who makes your heart glad.

People shall look at you and wonder. You shall be a wonder in the earth, for even though you be heavy laden, and even though the things of this world come on you and against you, your heart shall be above. And they shall know that there is one that they cannot touch that is very near unto you. And they shall wonder, and they shall be jealous. Yes, they shall be jealous and they shall be envious because they will see a glow of His glory. For they will take note of you that you have been with Him. That you have been with Him. They will see His glow upon you. Some will rejoice and say, "There is an out, there is a way out of darkness of this world, because we see light. Oh, not off in heaven somewhere, but on His Bride.” They will call too, they will pursue Him. “Who is this, Who is this One? Who is this? How is He better than our lovers? What makes Him better than our lovers? Why is He so much more glorious?” They will pursue Him as you pursue Him. They will see that it is a life-long pursuit; not for ministry, not for things, but for Jesus. You will live with Him for eternity and it will start now in this lifetime. Your eternity will begin today. Now will be the day of salvation. Now will be the time that you want. You will not look for one day, you will not cry out for some day, for everyday shall be sweet to you. You shall find Him that is the sweetness of all vines. For He is the true Vine. You shall taste of His grapes and you shall taste of His wine, for His wine and His love are better than wine. He love is better than all wine and all sweetness that you could ever experience. You will know it and you will grow in it. And your love will grow sweeter and sweeter. The days will be but fleeting moments, but the Day Himself will shine forever in your heart.

Your rejoicing shall be forever and ever, for He shall be that wonderful One. That wonderful One that you have not just lifted up your arms to, but you have lifted them and wrapped them around Him. You have cleaved unto your Husband and you have left father and mother. You have left everything and you have found Him that is true. You have found Him that is faithful. You have found Him that is peace. You have found Him that is love. Him that is righteousness. Him that is joy. You shall be full of One thing. You shall be the fullness of Him that filleth all in all. He is the One that brings fulfillment, and nothing else, no one else, no thing...nothing will ever take His place again.

You shall be one throughout all eternity. When the angels look at you they shall wonder, and they shall bow, they shall fold their wings and they will bow down...but not over you, they see Him. They not only see His servant, they see one, they don't see two. They see one. And all of heaven will rejoice. And the heavens of the heavens will have found the moment, the time, the thing for which all things stood. Everything shall glow of Life, everything shall glow of Life for that Life shall flow upon all things. Shall flow out of that two-made-one. It shall be the heaven of the heavens. It shall be that which is above all things. You will have reached the heavens of the heavens. And all things, whether in earth, or under the earth, or even in the heavens will bow to the heavens of the heavens. And no thing, nothing anywhere shall ever influence you again. For all that He is, is in you and fills you. He is the Son, He is the Son and the Husband that has brought you into Him. Not just brought you into heaven, but has appeared and made you one.
